

Pieter Segers (1957) was born in Eindhoven (the Netherlands) and studied civil engineering in Tilburg and attended the Academy of Architecture, also in Tilburg. Pieter Segers has worked for Rudy Uytenga architects in Amsterdam, for OD 205 in Delft and Eindhoven (main projects: tax office Heerlen, reconstruction auditorium Boerhaave Museum), and for Croonen architects in Nijmegen (main projects: reconstruction tax office 's-Hertogenbosch, renovation University Library Nijmegen). At present he works for Hendriks architects in Heesch (main projects: schools in Nistelrode en Oosterbeek, housing project Dorps-Es in Gendt).

Keywords: close cooperation with the customer, structural clarity, discreet and pleasant functionality, minimalist building with a maximum precision.