

GÖTTINGEN STATE AND UNIVERSITY LIBRARY

The SUB Göttingen is one of the leading German university libraries. For the establishment and support of space-related digital offers, she is looking for the next possible date one at the amount of 39.8 hours per week, initially limited to 2 years. The position is part-time suitable.

Data Analyst (m / f) - Spatial and Geospatial Data(E 13 TV-L, full time)

The position will be divided equally between the departments Digital Library and Research and Development and requires cooperation in various project contexts and service areas.

Your tasks:

- Advising scientists on georeferenced research data
- Support for the visualization of data
- Support for the expansion of digital offers in the map collection
- Support of new offers / services in the field of Geospatial Data
- Support for 3D digitization
- Collaboration with the eResearch Alliance Göttingen team
- Participation in the conception and implementation of third-party funded projects
- Interface function to faculties by providing interdisciplinary expertise
- Cooperation and participation in research projects of the faculties and comprehensive research networks

Required:

- completed academic studies (master or diploma), e.g. Geoinformatics or Geomatics or equivalent qualification
- Good understanding of diverse scientific issues and interoperability of metadata
- Safe English language skills
- Very good knowledge in the area of semantic web, RDF, XML data modeling, as well as current web standards and interfaces for data extraction
- Strong service orientation

Desirable:

- experience in research projects and own research activities,
- Willingness for later participation in literature supply (specialist lectures)
- a degree in library / information science (MA).